

Jackson County Community Resource Organizations for Animal Welfare Support & Education

The following local animal welfare organizations are available to work with teachers and schools to help educate students and the community about animal welfare issues; the resources that are available to address these issues; and teach students how they, their families and the community can help with the efforts. Animal welfare agency leaders are available to make classroom presentations or to coordinate, along with you, special events or community outreach programs to support animal welfare and adoption for homeless dogs and cats.
